

DANTE ALIGHIERI SOCIETY of WASHINGTON presents

How Dante Remains Relevant

(Italian Meeting, Live) given by

Marco Zuccari

WEDNESDAY OCTOBER 25, 2023

St. Clement's Church

1501 32nd Ave S., Seattle 98144

6:00 DOORS OPEN FOR ANTIPASTI

7:30 PRESENTATION

For Italian Meetings, attendees bring the antipasti and vino to share.

PLEASE bring your shared dishes already plated if possible.

Presentation summary

In his lecture about Dante, Marco will discuss how Dante's message remains relevant to contemporary audiences. This includes exploring the impact on everyday language, the inclusion of diverse characters and subjects that defied tradition, and a dramatic and modern narrative style that delved into themes of religion, morality, and pure love.

Biography

Marco Zuccari studied in his hometown of Domodossola in the Piedmont region and later graduated in mathematics from a university in Milan. His professional career involved working in the field of information technology, mostly from an organizational perspective. Zuccari is enthusiastic, curious, and loves life and traveling. He's an avid reader and writer, having published several books and contributed to various publications. Marco pursued his passion for Dante and his works later in life, becoming an expert in the field and holding several presentations on this subjects at school and cultural events. Zuccari also treads the boards, both performing and directing.

Marco can be reached via his website: www.marcozuccari.it

We don't take reservations for Italian meetings, and there is no charge.

Anyone with known recent exposure to or symptoms of COVID should not attend.

Masking is optional.

Marco's other events around town:

Oct 21 @10AM -

Meet the author event, Open to all at Casa Italiana, 13208 1st Ave S., Burien, 98168

Oct 28 @ 6 PM -

“Dante Show” Event, Open to all

This show will be a mix of poetry and music, complementary booklets with translations will be provided. Held at St Clement's (as above).

Hope to see you!

Copyright © 2023 Dante Alighieri Society of Washington, All rights reserved